

The Recuperative Care Program (RCP), located at Evergreen Crossing, provides vital post-hospitalization support to low-income and homeless individuals, offering transitional housing, health care, and intensive case management. Since 2005 RCP has served thousands achieving remarkable outcomes, including medical condition resolution, primary care engagement, and stable housing for over 60% of participants.

Service Delivery Model

RCP features a diverse, dedicated team including patient navigators skilled in social work, mental health, and public health, RN care managers, housing specialists focused on transition planning, and logistics and facility staff.

Program participants are referred to RCP from a hospital or an outpatient community health setting. Patients stay at Evergreen Crossing where they receive:

- Daily client monitoring, including social contact and access to a variety of resources geared to address social determinants of health.
- Access to primary care at Evergreen Crossing.
- Secure transitional housing, including personal hygiene supplies, and options for nutritional support.
- Support in making and keeping appointments with agency and non-CCC health care providers (including support with transportation resources).
- Transition planning, including follow up monitoring, ongoing case management and assistance securing medically appropriate placement or treatment.
- Complex care coordination across health, housing, treatment, employment and benefits systems.
- Tailored interventions, support in self-management and goal setting, and crisis response.

Admission Criteria
